

HOUSE OF FALGUNI

Lookbook

FESTIVE & WEDDING SEASON 2026

Fabric jewellery, Mashru silk clutches and clothing, from a handmade label in Ahmedabad.

OCTOBER 2026

ABOUT THE HOUSE

Handmade in Ahmedabad, mostly in fabric

House of Falguni is a handmade label from Ahmedabad. Deesha Goswami started it in 2025 and named it after her mother, Falguni. She trained as a textile engineer at L.D. College of Engineering and studied fashion management at NIFT Gandhinagar.

Most of our jewellery starts as cloth: printed cotton, leheriya and block prints, built up with kundan, mirror work and iron ghungroo. Because it's built on fabric and not cast metal, a chandbali weighs 12 g a pair and a 3.3-inch statement earring weighs 8 g. That counts at a mehendi that runs straight into the sangeet.

This lookbook gathers what we'd suggest for the wedding functions and the festive weeks: earrings, bangles, Mashru silk clutches, a few clothes and gifts for the house. Every piece links to its page on our website.

The chandbali, built in fabric

The crescent you know, on a fabric-covered base instead of cast metal, with a kundan top and a full row of ghungroo along the curve. It hangs 1.5 inches, so it ends at the jawline and stays comfortable through a long function.

A wedding-guest bag that isn't a potli

Hard-shell frame clutches covered in Mashru silk with Ajrakh prints. Each has a slim gold-tone frame, a faceted flower clasp, an arched hoop handle and a 23-inch chain, so it goes from the hand to crossbody when the dancing starts.

₹2,999 · 6 prints · 23-inch chain

Mashru is a Gujarat weave with a silk face and a cotton back, so it has the shine of silk with a softer hand. The clutches come in two builds: slim shells 8.5 inches across, curved or heart-shaped, and a deeper box of 7.5 × 6 × 2 inches.
