

Navy Geometric

Seven pages for one week, by hand, in the diary with this cover.

READ YOUR COVER

Your cover is cotton, hand block-printed: deep navy with pale circles and fine running lines. On a block-printed geometric, the printer aligns each impression against a registration mark cut into the corner of the block, but the final judgement is made by eye and hand.

circle
CIRCLES

lines
RUNNING
LINES

jaali
LATTICE

Simplified drawings, not copies of a printer's block.

THE ONLY RULES

- ◆ One page a day
- ◆ By hand, about ten minutes
- ◆ No rubbing out
- ◆ Nobody else has to read it

A page written by hand is the one nobody else could have written.

FROM THE STUDIO, AHMEDABAD

THIS WEEK

- 01 WRITE
10 min
Write your week as a timetable. Then write the timetable you wish you had.
- 02 DRAW
10 min
Draw circles across the page without a compass, each as round as you can make it. Number them, and star the roundest.
- 03 LOOK
10 min
Find straight lines and circles around you: a fan, a clock, a window grille. Sketch three of them, small.
- 04 WRITE
10 min
Write about a rule you follow that nobody taught you.
- 05 MAKE
10 min
Draw a jaali, a lattice of crossing lines, across the page. Then shade every other gap.
- 06 WRITE
10 min
What would you do with one extra hour each day? Be specific about where and how.
- 07 RETURN
5 min
Draw a small circle for each day of this week. Fill in the days you wrote your page.

TWENTY SHEETS

One for every diary print, free. Scan the code or visit houseoffalguni.com/pages/haath-se

SHARE A PAGE

Made one you like? Tag @houseoffalguni.

Craft notes from houseoffalguni.com/pages/the-craft and the product page for this cover.